McAfee MVISION Insights recognized for its actionable and preemptive threat intelligence at International Awards Program

SAN JOSE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Dec. 7, 2020-- McAfee Corp. (NASDAQ: MCFE) today announced that McAfee MVISION Insights has been named the winner of the “Endpoint Security Solution of the Year” award in the fourth annual CyberSecurity Breakthrough Awards program conducted by CyberSecurity Breakthrough, a leading independent market intelligence organization that recognizes the top companies, technologies and products in the global information security market.

McAfee MVISION Insights leverages McAfee’s cutting-edge threat research, augmented with sophisticated Artificial intelligence (AI) applied to real-time threat telemetry streamed from over 1 billion sensors. The integration of MVISION Insights significantly enhances the capabilities of McAfee’s endpoint security platform by managing the attack surface, preventing ransomware and aiding security teams to easily investigate and respond to advanced attacks.

“We are thrilled to be recognized as the top international player in endpoint security,” said Anand Ramanathan, vice president of product management, McAfee. “This Cybersecurity Breakthrough win further validates McAfee’s proven and innovative endpoint security technology. MVISION Insights is the industry’s first proactive solution to help organizations stay ahead of emerging threats—providing actionable and preemptive threat intelligence to help them engage early in the attack lifecycle.”

This year’s CyberSecurity Breakthrough program attracted more than 3,750 nominations from over 20 different countries throughout the world.

“McAfee MVISION Insights delivers breakthrough security technology that helps CISOs answer the fundamental question about how truly protected they are against the latest adversarial campaign targeting their organization,” said James Johnson, managing director, CyberSecurity Breakthrough. “We know that in combating this increasingly complex threat landscape, that proactive intelligence reduces endpoint risk—making McAfee is a true leader in the space. We are both thrilled and honored to be able to recognize them with our “Endpoint Security Solution of the Year” award for 2020.”
